Board Agenda

Authentication of individuals

Introduction

This month's agenda looks at the authentication of people, an issue underlying identity theft. Before the Board meeting, please spend a moment to think over the issues noted below, mark the scales at the appropriate positions and jot down any points for discussion. There are no inherently right or wrong answers, all opinions are interesting.

1. How important is authentication of individuals to the organization?

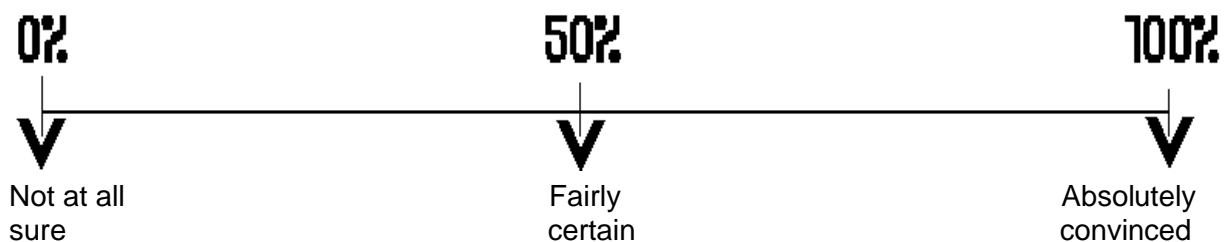

Given your knowledge of the organization's activities, would you say that authentication of people is vitally important, a nice-to-have or of no consequence?

Notes:

2. How confident are you that fraudsters and fakes would be spotted?

Think broadly about situations such as someone trying to get onto corporate premises or IT systems without proper authority, or counterfeiting credentials and other valuables.

Notes:

For more information

The CIO or Information Security Manager would be happy to brief you privately on this topic and will facilitate a brief discussion of the issue at the Board meeting. Briefing materials and presentations are available if you would like to know more.
